FARMERS' MEETING

Mr. Garland, U.F.A. Candidate, Delivered Good Address

The Vulcan correspondent to The Lethbridge Herald had the following: The federal political campaign opened in earnest at Vulcan on Thursday afternoon when a very successful meeting was held in the I.O.O.F. hall on behalf of E. J. Garland, the U.F.A. nominee. There were about 65 present when Mr. Donald Sinclair called for a chairman for the meeting. The name of W. E. Butchart, mayor of Vulcan, was put forward and that gentleman agreed to preside. The meeting was formally opened with the singing of the U.F.A. song, "Equal Rights for All."

Donald Sinclair, of Hearnleigh, gave a short address, which was chiefly by way of an introduction of the candidate, Mr. Garland.

The chairman then called on D. H. Galbraith, M.L.A. for Nanton, to address the gathering.

While condoning the present government to a large extent, the speaker asked for the support, on behalf of Mr. Garland, of all farmers in the district and those dependent on the farmers' trade. He said that in the past we had had all kinds of policies and he thought the time was now ripe for an agricultural policy.

John C. Buckley, M.L.A. for Gleichen, president of the U.F.A. Political Association for the riding, spoke for an hour. Mr. Buckley stated that the tariff was not the vital question in this election, but "the right to govern yourself or to endorse the present autocratic government." At present the government was all in the interest of the capitalist and not in that of the individual. The speaker referred to the Second scrip affair as a sample of party government injustice, and the attacks which had been launched against the U.F.A. and the U.G.G. by some of the government candidates. The old methods of nomination were condemned by the speaker, who said that formerly all nominations were made from a select few, on orders from "higher-ups." As one of the "higher-ups" formerly, he knew this was so.

The chairman then introduced E. J. Garland, who stated that he was a farmer from Rumsay and, therefore, had the interests of the farmers at heart. To the Conservative party the tariff might be the vital issue, and to the other parties something else might be the vital issue, but to him the issue was "equal rights for all." He further pointed out that the policy of the present government did not tend towards stability.

The meeting was very orderly, each speaker receiving the consideration of the audience. The practice of the mayor of presiding at all political gatherings in the town has had this happy effect.

The High River Municipal Hospital was formerly opened by Premier Greenfield on Tuesday, November 15. About 300 people attended the ceremony.

PUBLIC MEETING

W. R. Fulton, of Drumheller, will be at The Opera House, Monday.

Monday evening next, W. R. Fulton, of Drumheller, Government candidate for Bow River, will meet the electors of Vulcan and district to discuss the issues of the day. The nomination of Mr. Fulton by the National Liberal and Conservative parties, was quite unexpected by him, he did not seek it, but rather had it forced upon him. He was born in the Province of Ontario and has been for some years in business in the Province of Alberta. A thorough going Canadian, with all that that implies. A supporter of the Liberal party in both Provincial and Dominion affairs. His standing may be realized when such men as Mr. Scott of the Stewart Government Candidate in Gleichen in the late election is taking an active part in his support. Whether you agree or disagree, we recommend the citizens of this district to hear Mr. Fulton on Monday evening. Lieut.-Col. N. B. Peacock of Calgary will accompany Mr. Fulton. The Colonel is well and favorably known by many in Vulcan and district. We understand that the Mayor of Vulcan will occupy the chair and the meeting will commence at 8 o'clock in the Opera House.

DOWLING—JACKSON

Thursday, Nov. 10th at high noon the marriage of Miss Helen Louise Jackson, to Mr. Orval Vernon Dowling was solemnized at the First Baptist church, the Rev. Mr. H. Bingham officiating.

The bride, who was given away by her father, was gowned in navy duchess satin. Miss Florence Dowling, sister of the groom, acted as bridesmaid, while Mr. Jos. Jackson, brother of the bride, supported the groom.

After the ceremony and the serving of refreshments, the happy couple left for Vulcan, where they will make their home, the groom having been a resident there for several years.—Calgary H. Mail.

Robert Anderson, after winning success on the stage in his native land, Denmark, came to America and won his first screen honors as Monsieur Cuckoo in "Hearts of the World."

Do not get this picture mixed with "Every Woman," which was shown at Opera House some time ago.

J. H. Oliver, a Stavelly farmer, figures out the cost per acre to produce a crop: ploughing $4.00; harrowing behind drill, 50 cents; drilling $1; seed, $1.60; harrowing 25 cents; cutting $1.50; stooking 50 cents; twine 20 cents; threshing 75 cents; hauling 15 cents; making a total of $10.45 per acre. It would appear that the figures given by the Stavelly farmer are too low.

The provincial government has decided not to have the necessary by-elections until after the Dominion election.

ONLY A YARN

When the woman motorist was called upon to stop, she asked indignantly: "What do you want with me?" "You were travelling at forty miles an hour," answered the police officer. "Forty miles an hour? Why I haven't been out an hour," said the woman. "Go ahead," said the officer. "That's a new one to me."

A hotel porter in Rome boasts to an American guest that he speaks both English and American. On being asked the difference he said: "If an Englishman should come up now I should talk like this: 'Oh, I say, what extra-ordinarily shocking weather we're having! I dare say there'll be a bit of it ahead.' But when you came up I was just getting ready to say: 'For the love o' mike! Some day, ain't it? Guess this is the second flood, all right.'"

THE POLITICAL CAMPAIGN

Bow Valley Riding Will Be Scene of Good Contest. Both Candidates Fine Men

A special staff correspondent of the Saskatchewan Star, makes the following interesting contribution on Bow River politics in a dispatch from Drumheller:

The political campaign in Bow River constituency is getting away to a late start. W. R. Fulton, the government nominee, has started out today for a series of meetings in Bassano, Gleichen and other towns in the southern part of the constituency. Mr. Fulton is one of the oldest settlers in Drumheller, having been here since 1911. He was formerly mayor of the town and holds from Dundas County, Ontario. He is a brother-in-law of J. J. Leddy, of Saskatoon, and is well-known to a number of Saskatchewan people. He is the head of a thriving mercantile business in Drumheller and lateness of the opening of the campaign is due in some measure to Mr. Fulton's reluctance to enter the political arena. He has some of the striking characteristics that are associated with the premier of Canada, a clear eye, finely chiselled features and a strong face. He will fight the good fight.

There is no Liberal nominee. Mr. Fulton is in fact a life-long Liberal and has the support of Jesse Gouge, Liberal candidate in the 1917 election and of other prominent Liberals. Mr. Fulton told The Star that he felt in spite of his Liberal leanings that Arthur Meighen was the only man who could save the country and apparently there is a large body of Liberals in this district who have the same conviction. Mr. Fulton's support will come mainly from the merchants and townspeople and he will confine his whirlwind campaign largely to those parts of the constituency where there is hope of his swinging the vote. He does not by any means give the impression of a man engaged in a forlorn hope.

THE HOME

Timely Subject Was Discussed by Pastor

Sunday morning at the Union church the minister, Rev. A. E. Hayes, took for his theme "The Home." Speaking of the home the minister said: "If any organizer or institution is to remain truly alive it must adjust itself to the changing environment. Can we say that the home has adjusted itself to the many radical changes which are apparent in the political, social and industrial world? There are certain elements in family life which remain ever the same, certain underlying principles which must ever be conserved if it is to be its real self, but do the homes today mean as much to the nation as they did in earlier years?"

Dangers are ever threatening the home. The new economic conditions, which smother many a soul in wealth, and starve others in poverty, the mad rush for pleasures outside the home, the divorce menace, the congested centres of population with tenements and boarding houses, much literature that is destructive of the finest home ideals, are some of the conditions the modern home has to face. And we should know these dangers. It is the supreme duty of the church and state to give all possible guidance and inspiration to the homes of our nation that they may be so adjusted to modern changing conditions that they will become more than ever in the past the source from which our national life will be purified and ennobled.

"The home is not an end in itself. It is the means ordained of God for the production of noble character." In the true home more than in any other institution are developed those qualities which make for lofty citizenship. With rare exception the child is loyal to his home. It is here that is nourished the spirit of brotherhood. Service and sacrifice characterize the relation between members in the normal home. Here too we find the spirit of democracy. The home is to be the training ground for men and women who will play their part in realizing a noble national life.

Baptismal service was held in the morning. Both services were well attended. Next Sunday or the Sunday afterwards is likely to be the last Sunday before Mr. Hayes leaves for Edmonton.

TOWN COUNCIL

Municipal Authorities in Session on Thursday, November 10

The town council met on Thursday, November 10, and the following business was transacted. The milk license was given the second and third reading and was passed unanimously. The question of the management of the skating rink was reopened, and will be decided on at the next meeting. It was passed that the payment of three hundred ($300) dollars be made to the Agricultural Society, to be applied as payment on the fair grounds. In reference to licensing of milk dealers, it was decided to let the matter stand until the government inspector be communicated with. Due notice of the license becoming effective will be announced later.

RE-ORGANIZATION

Re-organization is just now the big thing in connection with the business of the province. We have a new government in Alberta, and the contemplated shake-up is a natural consequence. Men new in office, from the village council to the legislature, very often become possessed with the idea that they must "do something"—something different to their predecessors, and they for a time give new-broom results. Our reference to this matter is not necessarily evidence that we contemplate the decision of the Alberta government to be without any better reason. There are reasons for re-organizations, and plenty of reasons. The civil service is to be re-organized, the police force is to be re-organized, and several departments are to undergo some changes. It has been apparent that there could be improvements in the departments named, and big money savings too, and the government will have the public commendation for going straight to the business of bettering conditions. And may they realize the result for which they strive.

The late Lady Laurier bequeathed her beautiful residence on Laurier Avenue, Ottawa, to the Liberal Party, to be used as the permanent residence of successive leaders of the party.

Christianity is fundamentally opposed to force and arms, and definitely teaches the principles of peace. Let us all hope that the conference at Washington will result in much good and those countries that harbor ill-will may alter their viewpoint.

What Sir John A. Macdonald said on Prohibition is still true. "Canada will get prohibition just as soon as she sends enough men to parliament to vote for it." That is also true as it applies to the provinces, and Alberta can now reasonably expect prohibition. Recent announcements of members of the government indicates that there is to be a real effort to enforce the Liquor act in this province.

Miss Agnes McPhail, running as a Farmer candidate in an Ontario constituency, has announced that if elected she will not accept the full indemnity allowed a member. In this she is taking a different viewpoint to the other members of her party in the legislature, who signed a round robin request for a boost in their pay.

Premier Drury, the farmer premier of Ontario, has issued a notice to the civil servants of the province that they must not participate in the federal election campaign. In Alberta a like government has gone a bit further, the ministers of the government having voluntarily decided to remain out of the contest. Premier Drury goes on the stump, while the hired help of the province must keep mum or lose their jobs.

Queensland has decided on the abolition of its Legislative Council. This body is almost identical with our Canadian senate, and evidently estimated by the Queensland people at about the same value. The abolition of the senate in Canada has at times been a more or less lively political topic. But the old senate remains. It is just strange that the new political party which is just now a big factor in the present election does not make some decided pronouncement on the subject of the senate. To abolish the senate would at least be a big stroke in economy.

John Wanamaker says: "To discount advertising is like taking down your sign. If you want to do business you must let people know it. I would as soon think of doing business without clerks as without advertising." And John Wanamaker knows, and by advertising everybody knows John Wanamaker.

WE DOUBT THE RUMOR

According to a Calgary dispatch it is reported Senator Michener, of Red Deer, Alberta, is anticipating retiring from the senate. The belief is reviving the hopes of claimants for senatorial preferments in Alberta.

The chief difficulty seems to be that the senator may not retire with that celerity which would permit of the new appointment being made before political changes might come to make it impossible.

Senator Michener is understood to propose making his future home on an orange grove in California. He often used to pay it lengthy visits, even while he lived at Red Deer, and at one time it was anticipated that he would retire from the leadership of the Conservatives in the Alberta legislature in order to improve his health by making his more permanent residence in California. He went to the senate instead.

Think of it! The United States spent fifty-two billions of dollars on war during 131 years.

The political parties in Ontario—and that is where the real fight is going on—arranged a truce over Thanksgiving holiday. And this at least was one thing to be thankful for.

"Today, the world, which is in such need of safety and rest, wants not only nothing words, but realities," these are the words of Premier Michener used in his statement of the position of France, which country is ready to join in every endeavor to avert new wars.

The farmer party and the labor party get together here and there to give opposition to the other political parties, but what does the rank and file of the farmer party think of an eight-hour day and a forty-eight-hour week or the hired man?

One of the papers that we read says that it is extremely unfortunate that our Election Act makes no adequate provision for contests with more than two candidates. In so many constituencies there are to be three and in some perhaps four. The candidate elected by a mere plurality cannot fully claim to represent the constituency. Here is an argument for the preferential ballot and proportional representation.

Newspaper Comments

Literary Digest: Disarmament is a business proposition. That is why bankers and Chambers of Commerce are just as loud in demanding that the Conference at Washington must succeed as are the preachers and church councils and idealistic statesmen. There are such things as war profits, but the informed business man knows that they are more than balanced by the inevitable after-war slump of industry and the disarrangement of international trade and the years of heavy taxation. While German reparation and inter-ally debts have been supposedly excluded from the agenda of the conference, the financial aspects of world reconstruction cannot be entirely ignored by the men who will meet at Washington. Armament limitation is a practical proposition for the tax-payer. The breadwinner in every average family of five in the United States is paying nearly a hundred dollars a year in taxes solely to pay war debts and to prepare for future wars, and he realizes that the nation's debt has been piled up so hugely by the late war that his children will probably have to keep on paying the bill as long as they live. It is a realization of what reduced armaments mean from the standpoint of dollars and cents that leads the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce to send out to business organizations in other cities copies of its resolution attributing "the decline of our foreign trade and the reduced consumption of manufactures and luxuries to excessive taxation and to the exhaustion of capital and credit." This body of Western business men has gone on record as placing its hope of a substantial and world-wide recovery upon the success of the Conference on Limitation of Armament and urges the administration to use every effort to bring about a drastic reduction of naval and military expenditure, so that all countries and all classes may be relieved of a staggering burden which threatens some with insolvency and confiscation and all with trade stagnation and unemployment.

The Outlook: The Japanese Government has made very large appropriations for thirty-three universities for men, but not one dollar has gone into the higher education of women. "There are more licensed prostitutes and geisha girls in Japan than young women in high schools." Christian leadership among her women is absolutely essential if Japan is to be a Christian nation, "fit to enter the family of nations."

La Patrie: After every election there is invariably and necessarily rejected a certain number of votes because they were irregularly cast. The electors of course intend to give a valid vote, and it is deplorable that there are such large numbers who do not know how to register their ballot. A good way to obviate this loss of voting strength would be to instruct the people by moving pictures. Every body goes to the 'movies' and everybody would find interesting the film that would illustrate on the screen the right and proper manner to mark a ballot, fold it and place it in the ballot-box.

Owen Sound Sun: It frequently happens that the individual who thinks he is a big gun is a smooth bore. The house shortage was made more acute when prohibition emptied the jails, and there is still the movie to go to. "Don't get hurt" is an excellent slogan, but it appeals to the wrong class. What is needed is something in the nature of "Don't hurt anybody." The pessimist isn't as numerous as he seems. Three frogs croaking in a pond make more noise than the water that turns the mill wheel. When the olden daughter is feeling especially vicious, she is willing to concede that her mother is a "nice old thing."

Owen Sound Sun: It is in the highest degree desirable that women, now that they have the franchise on an equality with men, should participate as freely as circumstances will permit, in the affairs of the several parties, informing themselves on questions of the day and arriving at judgments in their own way. It is neither complimentary to the women, nor likely to be in accord with the facts, to suggest that in the forthcoming election women will merely duplicate the votes of their husbands. In the first place, of all women of voting age have husbands. And again all women who are blessed with husbands have not forsaken their ability or right to think and act for themselves in things political. In every-day occupations men of opposite political leanings work together and vote differently. Why should it be assumed that the wife must necessarily vote as her husband does? It may be reasoned that the relationship of business partners is less intimate than that of husband and wife, but it yet remains to be demonstrated that the married woman is therefore subject to the will of her husband. Nor is it to be assumed that women have less intelligence and are likely to follow blindly the leadership of their superior lords. Merely to suggest the thing is to prove the absurdity of the contention. It is not only desirable that women should inform themselves on the issues of the day so as to be in a position to vote intelligently, they should conduct their own political organizations. They have the genius and the organizing ability to carry on their own efforts in other directions, why not in politics?

LOW RAIL RATE TO CHICAGO FAIR

Stockmen and Grain Growers Have Good Entries—Special Cars Leave Calgary, November 25

Alberta is likely to have quite a representation at the Chicago International livestock and grain show, which is to be held at the Union Stockyards, Chicago, November 26 to December 3. This province will have quite a representation in livestock and also in grain.

As an inducement for as many visitors from Alberta as possible to attend the show, the railway companies are offering a special return fare rate of one and a half single fare, which makes the return fare from Calgary $91.55 and from Edmonton $94.35, including tax and exchange. These special rates continue from November 23 to 29 inclusive, and with return up to December 7.

Special rates can also be had to Ontario by way of Chicago, if desired. Reservation in the special sleeping cars which leave Calgary on the evening of November 25 can be secured by applying early to Alex Galbraith, superintendent of fares and institutes.

HAS FAITH IN FUTURE

John Wanamaker, the veteran departmental store man of New York and Philadelphia, says he has great faith in the future. He thinks the outlook for America better than at any time in sixty years. He is extending his New York store today in anticipation of bigger trade in the future. He points out that his predecessor, the famous A. P. Stewart, who was the foremost merchant on this continent in his day, started his biggest store in the gloomy reconstruction days after the Civil War and he never let his faith go down for a moment.

It deals with the mechanical side of the farm. Every issue is full of helpful hints and experiences on the operation of all kinds of farm machinery from a washing-machine to a tractor. Its editor has just completed a trip of several months over Western Canada in a motor car for the purpose of studying the mechanical needs of the farmers. He visited the farmers, lived with them and worked with them. The results of his trip will appear during the next twelve months.

SOUTHERN ALBERTA SURVEY BOARD

The Alberta Government in Its Selection of Board Display
Discernment

Premier Herbert Greenfield, on behalf of the provincial government, has announced the personnel of the "Southern Alberta survey board," an independent commission of four, to fully investigate and report upon the conditions in the dry areas of the south, and the most feasible policies to adopt in regard to permanent remedies of the problem.

The board will consist of C. A. Magrath, chairman; Judge A. A. Carpenter, of the public utilities commission of Alberta; G. R. Marnoch, formerly president of the board of trade at Lethbridge, and W. H. Fairfield, of the Dominion experimental farm at Lethbridge.

The necessities of the time and place have at once received the attention of the government, and to care for the situation is a big problem for a new government, or any government, but they will have general support in the undertaking, the very nature of the case creating a sentiment that will be an assistance.

The personnel of the commission is of itself evidence that there is no politics in the appointment, and if we are permitted the observation, it is quite the reverse. The selection has been accepted as a proof of the good judgment of the government and a proper recognition of the ability of the men named.

CIVIC ELECTIONS SOON BE HERE

No Talk As Yet About Nominations.
Hope Expressed That 1921 Council
Will Continue Good Work

There has been no perceptible interest taken in civic elections this year, the federal elections occupying the attention of our citizens. However, such has always been the case in this town, but when the eleven-hour approach, there were always a sufficient number of loyal citizens ready to fill any vacancies that might occur. This year the council board has been composed of men qualified in every way to look after the business of the town, and as a result we find that notwithstanding the very strenuous year, conditions are much better than one would anticipate. And we believe the opinion is general that it would be well for the present council to con-

"This political campaign, perhaps more than any previous campaign, is producing combinations and mergers, and all kinds of circumstances. Combines, in times past, in election fights, were only used as a subject for abuse. But these were combinations that now bear the new name of "big business." But the combinations today are designed to get votes and win a seat. There is the Liberal-Conservative, U.F.A. Labor, Soldier-Farmer, and a raft of other hyphenated fixes, but the champion of the lot is in Winnipeg, where a candidate has been nominated by a convention of the Workers' Alliance, the Socialist Labor Federation, the Ukrainian Labor Temple association, the Young Labor League and the Russian Progressive Club. And so it goes, and every day adds one or more. But this kind of thing can't last long, we hope.

HOURS OF VOTING

The hours of voting in urban and rural polling districts will be the same in the forthcoming general elections, an amendment to the Dominion Election Act having been passed at the last session of parliament to provide for this. In the 1920 amendments to the act provision is made for opening city polls at six o'clock in the morning and keeping them open till six at night. When these hours were put into effect in by-elections it was found that there were no votes practically cast before eight o'clock and also that candidates had great difficulty to get their representatives to attend at the different polling sections at 6 o'clock.

When a special committee of parliament met last session to consider proposed amendments to the act objections to the earlier voting in the cities were raised from several sources and it was decided to recommend to the House that the hour of 8 be set for the opening of urban and rural poles alike. This amendment was subsequently passed by the House so the polls in all constituencies, on the regular day of voting will open at 8 o'clock in the morning and close at 6 o'clock at night. Standard time governs all cases.

RE-ELECTED HEAD OF CANADIAN CLUB

Dr. Stanley, Former High River Citizen
Had Signal Honor Paid Him
By Canadian Club

Dr. G. D. Stanley, for the past year president of the Calgary Canadian Club, was signally honored by the members at their annual meeting, Monday, when he was unanimously appointed to pilot the destinies of the club for another year. It was somewhat of an innovation, the re-election of a president, but the report of the nominating committee met with the approval of every member present.

"The object of the Canadian Club is to inculcate Canadianism," declared Dr. Stanley in his presidential address. He briefly outlined the work accomplished during the past year, and gave a comprehensive report of the Canadian Clubs' convention held at Winnipeg. Throughout the year just closed, the Calgary Canadian Club had worked in harmony with the Calgary Women's Canadian Club, and as a result much good had been done. Eighty Canadian Clubs had been organized throughout the Dominion, and an effort was being made to organize other clubs in the larger towns throughout the country.

Following his re-election as president, Dr. Stanley outlined some of the plans of the club for the coming year. "Let us make this club felt as part of the community. Let our aims and ideals become a part of the citizenship of this city," he declared. A greater attendance at the regular club luncheons was desirable, he said, although the number present at the annual meeting presaged a growing interest in the club's affairs.

TEACHER SHOULD BE ACTIVE FORCE

In All Community Movements—
Teaching Is Biggest Business In the Nation

At the Southern Alberta Teachers' convention held in Lethbridge last week, the president of the association, Mr. Woolf, in giving an address, appealed for a broader sphere of activity for the school teacher, one that would take the pedagogue out of the four walls of the school room into the various activities of community life. Dealing with the condition of the profession in the eyes of the average business and professional man, Mr. Woolf declared that it was believed that the school teacher knew nothing about business and national and civic affairs. "All they knew was the course of study. Are we as teachers functioning as citizens? He feared that in many instances the teachers were not.

The teacher was engaged in the biggest business in the nation—training of children along the lines of true, noble Canadian citizenship. No teacher that confines his or her activities to the school room alone could be rated a successful teacher. A teacher must be an active, not a passive part of a community. The importance of this enlarged sphere, said the speaker, is apparent when it is realized that the future of Canada rests largely in the hands of the teachers of Canada.

PERT REMARKS

Spending money affords an immediate thrill, but the kick of saving is accumulative. Being cultured has one drawback—you have to pretend you don't like a circus. Never propose to a girl over the telephone. She may say yes, and she may be the wrong girl. The golf craze will never affect the entire population. Somebody must keep working in order to manufacture the balls. The best cure for unemployment is a vigorous epidemic of buying and a good business suggestion is that money is a boomerang; turn it loose. I guess the only way us pedestrians can get even is to buy a flivver and take pots shots at other pedestrians.

GRAIN GROWERS CO. IS CO-OPERATION

The Progressive Leader Is Conducting
A Strenuous Campaign
In Ontario

At Stratford, Mr. Crerar was accorded a great reception and from press reports given he made a decided impression. He claimed for the Progressive movement, that it had the national outlook in a wider sense than either of the other two older parties. He referred to statements attributed to Hon. R. B. Bennett, minister of justice, that United Grain Growers, Limited, (of which Mr. Crerar is president), was a company merely existing as middlemen to take toll from the farmers.

Mr. Crerar denied the charges. He asserted that the United Grain Growers, Limited, was a co-operative organization, taking toll from no one.

He attributed the railway situation as being largely "the result of the corrupting influence of railway promoters in the past." He charged that the government had placed no constructive policy before the people. "They want you to sign a blank cheque," he declared, "and they will fill it out after the election."

The Financial Post in an editorial says that the manifesto of Mr. Crerar on the tariff is clear-cut, frank, and on the whole reassuring. The Agrarian leader, while openly seeking free trade as an ultimate achievement, does not propose to interfere recklessly and inconsiderately, with existing industries' legitimate investment. He would afford a fair opportunity to Canadian industries to adjust themselves to the new conditions he has in mind.

Edmonton Eskimos defeated Winnipeg Victorias 16 to 6 and won the Western Canada rugby championship at Winnipeg.

With the closing of some of the camps on the irrigation project there has been a considerable gain in the number of unemployed. It would appear that the coming winter will be a serious one with those out of work.

A total of 4,189 head of cattle, valued at nearly $120,000, have been sent to United States markets from Calgary since October 1, according to S. G. Reat, U.S. Consul. Some large consignments have been made from Cayley, about a hundred miles south, one ranch having sent 779 head of cattle, valued at $22,000, from this station to Chicago recently.

Exchange: The present struggle in industry is not so much a contest between capital and labor as between greed and good-will. Greed is to be found in both ranks and good-will also; and the question is which shall triumph. If greed triumphs it will not be well no matter which party wins, but if good-will triumphs there will be an end to the long dispute.

REID HILL NEWS

Mr. A. Fitzpatrick spent a few days in Calgary during the week. Mr. and Mrs. C. Hadley are moving into the parsonage on Monday. Mr. Cole of Vulcan visited Mr. M. Hawkins over the week-end. Miss Bertha Smith left on Monday to visit relatives in Calgary. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fitzpatrick are to be congratulated on the birth of a son, on November 12.

Mrs. E. Arney and Mrs. M. Hawkins were Calgary visitors during the week.

A social evening and dance was held at Fred Fox last Saturday which proved a very enjoyable affair.

The surveyors have been camped on Watt Glenn's farm surveying the site of the proposed reservoir to be made of Loda Lake.

The members of the Reid Hill W.I. will meet at the home of Mrs. J. McVay on Thursday, November 10, to sew for needy children in the district. Come early.

Don't forget the gift bazaar the W.I. is holding on December 2 in the Baptist church. A fowl supper will be served and a good programme is under way. This is the time to buy but last minute gift.

The Prospect Slope pupils held a Halloween concert and social evening at the school which was very successful. They propose holding a social evening in the school once a month during the winter.

The sewing bee held at Mrs. J. McKays on Thursday last was well attended and a quantity of work cut and prepared for sewing. The ladies will meet at the home of Mrs. C. H. Smith on November 17 to finish the garments.

Capt. Will. Barker of Lake Athabasca visited his uncle J. H. Smith this week-end. He states that numbers of men are making their way back from Fort Norman penniless, the field having proven very disappointing. Capt. Barker says that Fort McMurray is developing rapidly; labor being scarce hampers the otherwise rapid building. The tar sand deposits in the vicinity of the fort are being investigated with a view to developing them. Though an Ontarian by birth, Capt. Barker says he never saw vegetables make a more rapid and successful growth than at Fort McMurray and he predicts a wonderful future for northern Alberta.

The Reid Hill W.I. met at the home of Mrs. J. H. Smith on November 2 with fourteen members present. It was decided to assist any needy families in the vicinity by making garments for children. The resolution was also passed that no more flowers could be sent to such members while the money was needed for relief work. The date of the gift bazaar was changed to December 2. After the business was dealt with the officers of the coming year were elected. Mrs. E. Arney was elected president; Mrs. G. Walker first vice-president, and Mrs. C. Smith re-elected as secretary-treasurer. Mesdames Flintland, McIntosh, McKague, were chosen as directors. After the meeting a dainty lunch was served.

The friends and relatives of Mrs. Joe Myers were deeply grieved to hear of her death which occurred at the Holy Cross hospital, Calgary, on Saturday, November 5. Mrs. Myers had been ill for several weeks of typhoid fever and while all knew there was little hope of recovery the news of her death came as a great shock. The body will be taken to Ontario for burial. Mr. and Mrs. Myers came to Reid Hill in 1906 among the first settlers, and Mrs. Myers with her smiling courage and cheering friendliness made friends of everyone. She was an earnest church and Sunday school worker and her beautiful Christian life was a wonderful inspiration to us all. We extend our sincerest sympathy to her sorrowing husband and relatives.

RED CROSS NEWS

Mrs. C. Dunham returned from Cardston on Friday and left Saturday for Cardston.

Mrs. Joseph Richardson left on Wednesday, November 9, for Rochester, Minn., where she will undergo an operation at Mayo Bros.

Tickets are being sold for a very fine three-story Christmas cake. This cake was iced by Mrs. Walter Deyter and will be drawn for at the dance to be given in the Red Cross school house on November 22 by the Ladies' Institute.

Five Lives motored out to the Turkey Shoot at Ed. Synges last week, and returned with fourteen birds. Can you beat that?

We are pleased to hear that little David Smith, who had the misfortune to break his leg, is now able to be around again.

If Henry Ford married a widow with two small children, he would have a second-hand Lizzie and two runabouts.

Let a Greeting Card Carry
Your Message of Christmas
Cheer

Exclusive But Not Expensive

There is no one item, at such small cost, that in any way approaches the Christmas Card as a remembrance of a friend by a friend.

There is nothing that so cements the good will of a business institution as a thoughtful greeting to its customers, associates and competitors.

Without forgetting the sentimental feature of Christmas giving, the printed greeting comes mighty close to being good business for both individual and firm.

The Advocate has now in stock for your inspection and selection a large stock of Christmas Cards in large and attractive variety. We print the cards to your order, with the greeting just as you desire it.
